

Knights Templar School holds donation drive for Letchworth foodbank

The Comet, 8th April 2025

The Knights Templar School in Baldock held a non-uniform day to raise donations for the Letchworth Foodbank.

The end-of-term event was a student-led initiative, repeating the success from the collections in 2023 and 2024. Year 13 students Izzy, Adam, Oscar, and Noah took the lead this year, managing everything from promoting the event, organising and conducting assemblies, working out the logistics of donation points across the school, sorting and checking the donations, and then how to get them to the foodbank.

They were supported by teams of student helpers, Year 13 prefects, the Sixth Form council and KTS Interact (young Rotary) group.

Headteacher Mr Hutchings said: "We have again been inspired by the generosity from parents, carers, students and staff in the contributions to the Letchworth Foodbank for non-uniform day. Massive thanks go to our Sixth Form students for their coordination and management, plus all the volunteers from across our school who worked to sort and load the tonnes of contribution. It was lovely to welcome KTS alumni Charlie Prutton back to the school for the day, whose initial idea and passion begun what has become a KTS tradition."

Izzy, who took a key role in organising the event, said: "Although it was sometimes stressful pulling everything together, it has been so worthwhile. The generosity has been brilliant and it is wonderful to be involved with something that is helping the community."
